

The Karlsruhe Institute of Technology, Chair of Human Resource Management (Prof. Dr. Petra Nieken), offers a position as a

Post-Doc

The position can be filled immediately and is initially limited to two years. Salary corresponds to the German pay scale E13, TV-L.

You are interested in personnel economics, human resource management and/or experimental economics and have experience in theorybased or empirical research.

We offer an interesting position including research and teaching. Your responsibilities include your own research as well as participating in the teaching program and the administrative tasks of the chair. We offer the opportunity to work on your habilitation-project as part of a dedicated team. The chair offers an interdisciplinary research environment as well as time and resources for your research.

We expect

- A PhD/doctorate in business administration, economics, or a related field
- knowledge of human resource management, personnel economics, and/or experimental economics
- excellent analytic skills
- fluent English and German
- knowledge of empirical research methods

We strongly encourage female candidates to apply. If qualified, handicapped candidates will be preferred.

We are looking forward to your application. Please email your application (CV, transcripts, letter of motivation) no later than October, 31, 2014 to petra.nieken@kit.edu.
